The local reporter of the Inter-Mountain Catholic is indebted to Ray Canine, recording secretary of the local council Knights of Columbus, for the account of the recent election of officers and other important news.

Up to going to press no news has been received from the Ogden council of the Knights of Columbus. Are the postoffice officials in Ogden and Salt Lake to blame, or the Ogden secretary of the K. of C.?

Rehearsals for the annual concert on March 17 are progressing well. Miss Fitzpatrick, Miss Rosemary Holland, J. W. Curtis and W. K. Brown of the Cathedral choir will sing Moore's Melody; Miss Agnes Ryan will be the soprano soloist, Charles Kent the baritone soloist, Edward Fitzpatrick will be the violinist and, of course, the children of the choir, will be the principal attraction.

As material evidence of its belief in the future of Salt Lake, the Salt Lake Security & Trust company is now engaged in the completion of the finest and most elaborate safe deposit vaults in the city, and it would be hard to find anything as neat and costly in the entire west. Pilgrimage to Rome.

If any of our readers or their families are contemplating a trip to Europe this coming summer, why not encourage and patronize the one conducted by McGurkin's Catholic Tours, 187 Broadway, New York City.

You would be sure of an audience with the Holy Father, see Europe in a substantial manner, be in good company and save money as against traveling independently.

WEDDING BELLS.

Sharp-Young.

The romance began in the studio, and which soon led to the altar. A beautiful work of art, culminated last Tuesday in the marriage of the maiden and the man who wrought so wonderfully her image in clay, when Miss Cecilia Sharp, the original of the bust, and the artist, Mahonri M. Young, were united in wedlock. The marriage of the two young people comes as a surprise to their friends at this time, although it has been known for some months past that the event was imminent. It was planned by the pair themselves for the spring, but was hastened somewhat by a bit of good news which needed celebrating.

The good news came in the form of a great order to the young artist, whose talent as a sculptor has been recognized both at home and abroad. There has been an effort for some time past to get the heads of the Mormon church to have a statue of Joseph Smith erected in the grounds surrounding the temple and tabernacle, and the matter was only decided upon Tuesday morning. With the letter carrying the order to design the statue in his hand, "Hon." hastened to his fiancée, and the good news, and before he left they decided to celebrate the happy occasion with their wedding bells.

Both the young people are among the best known in both art and music circles in the city, and they belong to two of the oldest families. Mr. Young has been an art student practically all his life, but he has spent the past few years in Paris doing special work in sculpture. His works in bronze when exhibited last summer created a great deal of favorable comment, and when he placed on exhibition at the art institute the bust of Miss Sharp, which he modeled a wonderfully true likeness, it received the cash prize offered for sculpture. A number of ambitious pieces by the young sculptor have been exhibited, but Mr. Young, needless to say, considers this his finest work.

Mr. and Mrs. Young will remain in Salt Lake long enough for him to make the designs for the large statue, which it is expected will take the better part of his time for the next two years, and will then go to New York.

OBITUARY.

Lambert.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lambert in their grief over the death of their bright son, Richard. The lad died Sunday after a month's illness. The funeral took place from St. Mary's cathedral on Tuesday. Rev. Father Curran officiated, and exquisite music was rendered by Miss Fitzpatrick, Mr. Crompton, Allen Mahoney and Edward Fitzpatrick.

According to an article in the Salt Lake Tribune of Feb. 4, in discussing the standing of local banks, McCormick & Co. now lead in deposits, having over nine millions. Among the local trust companies, the Salt Lake Security & Trust company, with $300,000, is shown to have the largest capital and surplus. This company in its own building on North Main street, in magnificent banking quarters, and about to open its new vaults, appears to be fully capable of handling the immense volume of business with which the company is favored.

Concert Rehearsals.

The little ones of the choir will rehearse on Saturday at 5 o'clock; the boys at 5 o'clock. The young girls will rehearse on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock sharp. After Saturday and Sunday no more children will be accepted for the entertainment.

VEGETABLE MEDICINES.

Many people still have the "drug habit," as the enormous sale of patent medicines and drug preparations well proves. But persons who have given the matter serious thought have been coming more and more doubtful that the taking of drugs into the stomach ever benefited anyone, may, convinced that it is harmful. But if one must "take something," it is better to take medicine in vegetable foods than to be swallowing drugs, many of them poisonous. A health journal gives the following list of vegetable medicines:

Turnips, onions, cabbage, cauliflower, watercress and horseradish contain sulphur.
Potato, salts of potash.
Fresh beans and lentils give iron.
Watercress, bell, iodine, iron, phosphate and other salts.
Spinach, salts of potassium and iron.
Food specialists rate this the most precious of vegetables.
Cabbage, cauliflower and spinach are beneficial to anemic people.
Tomatoes stimulate the health action of the liver.
Asparagus benefits the kidneys.
Celery for rheumatism and neuralgia.
The carrot forms blood and beautifies the skin.
Beets and turnips purify the blood and improve the appetite.
Parsley, mustard, cowslip, horseradish, dock, dandelion and beet tops clear the blood, regulate the system and remove that tired feeling so peculiar to spring.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

A warm sponge bath will relieve nervous strain.
Neuralgia may very often be speedily relieved by applying a cloth saturated with essence of peppermint to the seat of pain.
For eyes that are stuck together in the morning bathe the lids in boracic water and at night rub the lids with boracic acid ointment.
Put a sprain ankle at once into hot water for ten minutes. Afterward, if the pain is severe, apply a bran bag dipped into hot vinegar.
Don't sleep with the mouth open. Dust and gritty particles floating in the atmosphere, entering the trap thus set for them, injure the enamel of the teeth by irritation.

A man who suffers from catarrh says that he cured himself of the malady by bathing the feet every night in cool water and putting on clean stockings every morning.

In case of biliousness or typhoid fever, the juice of cranberries is almost indispensable for clearing the system of the poisonous bacteria. In some forms of dyspepsia there is no more effective and simple remedy than raw cranberries.

Strong black tea is recommended as a dandruff cure. It is said that shampooing the hair once in ten days with this and stimulating the hair by thorough brushing, both before and after, will cure the most obstinate cases of dandruff if used persistently.

St. Gregory says: "There is nothing we ought to dread more than giving the preference to the fear of man, to that of the fear of God."

TO KEEP WELL.

A well ventilated house does not necessarily mean a cold house, and pure air does not have to be forced air. Excesses are very apt to be dangerous, and while the lungs demand fresh air, that they may do their work well, too low a temperature is not wise. But the sleeping room you are apt to spend most of your working and waking hours in. You will feel better for having slept in a cool room, and if on rising you think it too cool, just try those lovely breathing and stretching exercises, that most of us learned at school—adding a few free swimming exercises. Then sponge your chest, face and throat off with cold water, rub briskly till dry and rosy—fill the lungs a dozen times, and dress as quickly as possible. You'll find you feel so fresh and well that you will never again risk the discomforts and lack of rest attending a close sleeping room. But if you hope to effect a cure permanent and not simply a temporary benefit, you must take care that nature's laws of health are obeyed.

The Tide.

The boats lay stranded on the beach. Tangled with seaweed, dark and green. A desolate and dreary scene. Far as the eye could reach. The tide was out.

How changed the view when day was done. The boats rode gaily on the deep. Their white sails nodding as in sleep. The tide was in.

Thus many a life, in want or woe, Lies stranded on the barren shore; But God is God for evermore: Take courage, for we know The tide will in.

And lifted from the rocks and shoals We sail upon a sunlit sea; Night opens on eternity— Sweet rest for weary souls— The tide is in.
